

LOS ENAMORADOS Community Response Mary Marquez

[0:00:00]

Mary Marquez: Well, this piece caught my eye, and the reason it caught my eye is that we all have universal values. In this case, well, we have traditions. We have the tradition of spending time with family, which is found in all cultures.

[0:00:31]

And there's also a celebration of affection, which you also see within families.

So those are the universal values that we all have, regardless of our culture or the language we speak.

Well, we get the impression that this is a family celebration...

[0:01:00]

...perhaps with music, where these people are remembering old times. They're united, celebrating that moment in the company of others who also want to take part in that celebration.

[0:01:30]

Well, as I previously mentioned, I think all cultures have common values and universal values. In this moment, it's the celebration of love, the celebration of a tradition. And depending on the culture, we celebrate specific traditions that differ from culture to culture, but what unites us all are those universal values of love and family.

[0:02:08]