New York.
November 3rd.

My dear poor old boy,

Your letter was waiting for me yesterday when I reached 426, and you know that hearing from my precious boy makes me happier than anything else. You must come on this Saturday Fuzzy darling, you want to see me and I want to see you- dreadfully. I am so glad Bessy is better, I received a letter from Katie this morning and they seem to think her very much improved. Poor soul I wish I could do something for her. Yesterday I went up to see Lulu the first thing, even before coming here. And arrived there in time for lunch and then spent most of the afternoon with her. Their rooms are lovely, you must see them when you come on. Your Aunt Georgia wanted me to give you her love and tell you that they will be delighted if you will stay with them when you come on here, I told her I didn't know whether you had promised Mr. Haas or not for this time but she says if you can't this time why then the next. (I won't say time again) What a nice thing the Constitutional Club must be, if it doesn't involve any work or much extra reading during the week, perhaps you may join it. I expect to spend most of my day running around to my relations- will lunch with Aunt Debs and will then go to Aunt Sallie's and the Boulton's. Dear boy you will come on this week I am sure, so until Saturday good-bye. With a hug and squeeze.

Your ever loving Daisy.
