My dearest boy-

I am glad your train got you home in such good time yesterday, for now you won't mind trying it again next week. We did have a beautiful time together on Sunday, didn't we Fuz? And next Sunday will be just as nice- I won't forget to do the polite to Mrs. Boulton for you- to-morrow I hope to spend the day with Aunt Debs, she wrote to me yesterday to make sure of my coming on Wednesday, thinking we had not positively fixed upon that day. Ettie came to see me yesterday, but I was out the whole morning and so missed her, she left a card asking me to dine with them either to-day, to-morrow, or Thursday. I accepted for the last. This evening with Mr. Hackstaff is going to take Margie, Sammie and me to the minstrels, I think it will be funny as I haven't been for ages and ages, so there is some chance of the jokes being new. And now darling boy that you know my plans for this week as far as I know them myself, let me say a word or two about my Fuzzy! I missed you dear boy the minute you left 202, and shall keep on missing you and wishing for you, until I see my boy again next Saturday- it's too bad that you will miss the Legal Club, but then- I'll try to be very polite to make up for that

Don't forget to tell me about Bessie when you write- The idea of calling Bessie [Tunis?] "an ugly wild thing" ! why dear is she awfully nice and jolly, and is considered quite handsome, so there, little boy. Remember about reading "Aunt Serena," you are going to do it to please me you know. This week. Love to your family, except Anna.

Your dear,
Daisy.
