

Sunday

Dearest daughter,

Isn't it perfect about C.B.L.? One realizes something of what that "joy of the angels in Heaven" must be - doesn't one?

Am writing to E.B. to ask her to come down here on Fri. for a meeting of the Advisory Council + of the State Ch.men - to decide what they will recommend to the convention. I never wanted Esther during our strenuous days to be on the Adv. Council lest it interfere, as I knew it would, with her work. But now it is different and her advice would be very valuable. So do persuade her to come - and I want the trip to be of no expense to her. I will send her my mileage + she will stay here in the house as my guest. I hope she will come on Fri. (the meeting is at 2 p.m.) + remain until Sunday anyway. I've written to J. Cochran, who is not a member of the Adv. Coun. begging her to come to listen to the discussion, and want to beg you to do the same - will you?

I will take care of getting you a room if you will. I thought I'd give Esther my room, for I want her to see how nice it is. And you + I could go out if there isn't enough space for us here at headquarters - Will you come? I'd love to have you as my guest also, + shall claim that privilege from your front door at 14-

Am writing a letter to the President - am going to see Mrs Harding - and am to see Mrs. Colly (to get her to do something for us), and am doing a few other things all connected with convention + [illegible] - can't write any more - this scawl isn't just carelessness - I cannot somehow hold my pen.

Best love my darling - I am [very] [happy] over our restored [mission?].
